We'd like to talk to you about how we can improve the way we work with you in

Sheffield Adult Social Care

What's happening?

Sheffield City Council is improving how we deliver care and support to older people, people with physical or learning impairments, autism, and mental health needs who need support to remain independent safe and well.

We will be making changes to the support we offer when you first contact us to help you put things in place to remain as independent as possible.

We are also changing the way in which we continue to support people who have long-term support from Adult Social Care (either at home or in a residential care home, or supported living accommodation) to make sure the support in place continues to meet your needs and that your individual outcomes are being met in best way possible for you.

We could be making changes to how we set up our teams, how you contact us, how you get information and advice, and how we work with other professionals to share information and work towards achieving your outcomes together.

Why do we want to talk to you?

It's important that the changes we make improve your experience of using Adult Social Care for you and people like you.

We'd like to talk to you about what you'd like to see improve and your ideas. We also want to find out what you think about some of the ideas we have for making our services better too.

How can you talk to us about this?

- A member of our project team would love to come and talk to a group of people either in a residential or supported living home, day service or social group.
- Or, if you are living at home and not part of any groups then we would be pleased to visit you at home or another venue of your choice, or we could talk on the phone or video call if you prefer.
- We will try to arrange as many visits or calls as possible before Friday 2nd September 2022.
